EXCELSIOR.

Lerow & Blodgett's Patent Rotary Sewing Machine.

THIS Machine will perform fine stitching, at the rate of one yard per minute, either for curved or straight work, and in making any sort of a garment. For Tailors it is indeed invaluable; and for Cap Makers, Carpet Bag, Grain, and Salt Bag, and Upholstery Manufacturers, it defies competition. Also, for Gloves and Fancy Sewing. One machine will perform the work of ten girls hand labor.

Six silver medals have been awarded this machine, in the Fairs of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Albany, Baltimore, and New Hampshire.

It was patented the 2d day of October, 1849, and there are now in actual operation over two hundred of these machines, making Clothing, Caps, Bags, &c. &c.

Messrs. Wm. E. Whiting & Co., No. 124 Pearl-street, New York, in six months, and with twenty-four machines, made $60,000 worth of Caps alone!

Mr. Lerow has just returned from Europe, where (in connection with Wm. H. Cary & Co., 245 Pearl-st., New York, in six months, and with twenty-four machines, and association of gentlemen in this town having purchased the Patent Right for this State of the above named Sewing Machine, and desiring to become fully acquainted with its operations and merits, appointed one of their number, Mr. S. P. Polley, (a well known and practical machinist.) to visit New York for this purpose. After a full and careful investigation of all matters pertaining thereto, Mr. Polley reports that he has witnessed the Sewing Machines in the highest state of successful operation. He took occasion to examine various other Machines intended for this purpose, none of which will bear a comparison with Lerow & Blodgett's; and parties who had purchased another right have abondoned it and bought this.

An improved Machine, brought on by Mr. P., is now in operation at the Tailoring Establishment of Mr. Chas. Barr, where it may be seen.

We guarantee this Patent to be a valid one, and this Machine, which tells its own story.

We are now prepared to sell Count

TO TURPENTINE DISTILLERS.

The subscriber would inform the Distillers of Turpentine, that he has now on hand at his Cooper Shop in this place, a supply of seasoned timber, sufficient for the present year; and that those who were disappointed in getting work last year, may rely upon being served this, as he has added greatly to his former arrangements; and having permanently located himself here, he will be enabled to pay strict attention to the quality of the work; and should any casks made by him prove bad, he will exchange them, or return the price of such casks: also, from the first of March next, he will deliver them free of churge, at any point in or around Wilmington. Hereafter his casks shall be marked with the letters A. M., on either head, so that the work may be known. The price will be $1.75 per barrel of 40 gallons. Should any change be made in these prices, due notice will be given in this paper.

WE learn that Dr. S. P. Townsend has sold out the good will of his Sarsaparilla business, including machinery, and raw material on hand, for the large sum of $100,000.—
This is an illustration of the advantages and benefits of advertising. The purchasers are Messrs. Nostrand & Bach, both wealthy and well known individuals. They have, we understand, employed the celebrated Chemist, Dr. James R. Chilton, who will hereafter have the compounding department under his own immediate supervision. They are men of enterprise, and will, no doubt, sustain the character of this celebrated medicine, which has the reputation of being the best preparation of Sarsaparilla made in the United States. The new proprietors, we understand, warrant their article to stand in all climates any length of time, which we have not doubt of, when manufactured by so practical a chemist as Professor Chilton, who is well known to be one of the first chemists in this country.

New York, February, 1850.

The undersigned, wholesale Druggists in the city of New York, have sold Dr. S. P. Townsend's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla for several years, and consider it the Original and Genuine Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla, and that it was the first introduced to public notoriety under that name Boyd & Paul, 40 Courtlandt-st.

ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION

Among the numerous discoveries Science has made in this generation to facilitate the business of life, increase. Its out joyment, and even prolong the term of human of istence, none can be named of more real value to mankind town this contribution of Chemistry to the Healing Art. A vast trial of its virtues throughout this broad country, has proven beyond a doubt that no medicine or combination of medicines yet known can so surely control and cure the numerous varieties of pulmonary disease which have hitherto swept from our midst thousands and thousands every year. Indeed, there is now abundant reason to believe a remedy has at length begin found which can be relied on to cure the most dangerous affections of the lungs. Our space here will not permit us to publish any proportion of the cures affected by its use, but we would present the following opinions of eminent men, and refer further enquiry to the circular which the Agent below name I will always be pleased to furnish free, wherein are full particulars and indisputable proof of three facts.

From the President of Amberst College, the elektrated Professor Hitchcock.

"James C. Ayer—Sir: I have used your Cherry Tectoral in my own case of deep-sented Bronehitis, and am satisfied from its chemical constitution, that it is an admirable compound for the relief of laryngial and bronehial difficulties. If my opinion as to its superior character can be of any service, you are at liberty to use it as you think propet.

Frofessor Silisman, M. D., Lul, D.,

Professor of Chemistry, Mineralogy, &c., Yale College, member of the Lift. Hist. Med. Phil, and Scientific Sucleties of America and Europe.

"I deem the Cherry Pectoral an admirable composition from some of the best articles in the Materia Médica, anima very effective remedy for the class of diseases it is intended to cure."

Such delay as had occurred might be with perfect reason on different accounts-but it was hurst complained of the proceedings of Mazzini, Ledurst complained of the proceedings of the proceed competent to ascertain, now, whether the warrant triguing against Austria and other foreign States, and he suggested the propriety of re-enacting the fully was quite another thing—a question of law and justice.

Accordingly, the prisoner Sims was brought bethe orders from the Commissioners' Court for the remanding of the prisoner from time to time to the custody of the Marshal. He was desired by the Marshal to state that two parties held an interest in this case, the United States and Massachusetts.

The Marshal was advised by counsel that his reurn was not transferable. Mr. Sumner wished for delay for the purpose of collecting evidence of the unreasonableness of the delay by the Marshal in bringing Sims before the Commissioner for the offence charged. Judge Woodbury finally consented to an adjournent until 3 o'clock this afternoon, and ordered the Marshal to keep the prisoner in custody, and then to be brought before him.

The Mayor sent a request to the commandant at the Navy Yard to assist in the escort of Sims to-day, with a force of one hundred and fifty men, and signified his intention to comply with the request. SECOND DISPATCH.

Surrender of Sims to the Claimant. Boston, April 11.—The court came in at 3 o'clock and proceeded to give a decision.

The Commissioner said he was here to decide a great question of law on his conscientious convictions of the truth. The first argument was that a Commissioner had no right to decide this case, inasmuch as he was not clothed with judicial powers. He adproper acts empowering Commissioners to exercise any of such powers. By act of 1842 there was an for them to arrest, examine, and imprison offending seamen and others, holding them in prison until finally tried. This was a degree of judicial power. The rendition of slaves escaped from one State to another was of the same nature as the rendition of fugitives from justice, only the one was to his owner and the other to a State. All that came before the magistrate before whom the prisoner was arraigned, was simply the question of removal. It was ascer-tained, and had been passed upon, that the act of Congress, of 1850, authorized Commissioners to issue a certificate for removal of fugitive slaves on finding

The Commissioner reviewed the law-cited authorities-and then took a careful review of the evidence, and said there was no doubt in his mind that the claim of the agent of Mr. Potter was well founded in fact, and said, "I deem it my duty to grant a certificate for his removal back to Georgia. I therefore do grant it." The fugitive, Sims, was then taken from the court room under the direction of the Marshal. Much excitement exists at the court-house.

Boston, April 12,-After the decision of Judge Woodbury last night, that there was no ground to interfore with the certificate of Mr. Curtis remanding Sims, preparations began to be made to convey him back. The brig Acorn had been hauled to the end of Long wharf, having been previously fitted up for an extra number of passengers.

Duzing the night, the Court House Square was filled with a crowd who were collected in knots discussing the matter, and occassionally hooting at the officers. There were a number of females among them. The proceedings in and about the Court House were closely watched by the abolitionists.— At about 3 o'clock detachments of the City Watch to the number of 150 arrived, and with clubs and hooks, were brought into the neighborhood of Court-square. The police force under Marshal Tukey arrived with short-swords, assembled in the square, went thro' some evolutions and finally formed in a hollow square in front of the side entrance to the

When the procession reached the wharf the brig was found to be all ready, with the steamer Hornet along-side with her steam up. Sims was taken immediately into the cabin. The Acorn had two cannons on board to pretect her from any assault on the passage. The word was given to let go the fastenings, and she was soon under way. About thirty police officers accompanied the vessel as far as the steamer went as a protection; four officers of this city, including U. S. Deputy Marshals Savin and Byrne, accompanying the fugitive in the vessel to Savannah. Just as the vesvel was about to leave the wharf, some of the crowd sang several hymns, such as "From Greenland's Icy Mountains." "Oh! There will be Mourning at the Judgment Seat of Christ." "Be thou, Oh God, exalted high," &c. One man, just as Sims was going below, called out to him to preach liberty to the slaves; and as the brig was departing, Rev. Mr. Foster, orthodox minister of Concord, made the following prayer:

Almighty God! Thou seest this poor man, one of thy children, borne away by oppressors; Thou art the friend of all who suffer wrong, and we have now no hope but in Thee; that hope is still unshaken Thy promises endure for ever, and now we beseech Thee to show Thy power and love in blessing this dear brother, who is carried by force to the land of whips and chains. Oh! God, make him a missionary of power to awaken a love of justice and liberty that shall end in the speedy overthrow of the accurs ed system which now causes millions of bleeding hearts. In mercy, Heavenly Father, do Thou des troy the wicked power which rules us. Says he, "The Democratic party: It York alone that supports and sustains this great city, is, and always has been, the true Constitutional and this great State; it is the entire nation stretching Union party of the country." from the river St. Lawrence along the Atlantic coast and the Mexican Gulf, and then across the mountains and along the Pacific coast away up to Nootka Sound. Our star is indeed brilliant and distinguishable in the constellation, but let it shoot from its sphere and it would pale its fires and be lost in the Heavens. [cheers.] Gentlemen, no man in New York can be a disunionist [cheers.] I know none indeed. I will say only one thing further on the subject of the Union. I am a betion. [Cheers.] Sir, what is just and wise must be defended and maintained, but he who cannot maintain and defend them in this Union and under the Constitu- ing one, who seeks disunion, and Heaven save the wits of and unexpected guest; I will not abuse, by much speaking, the hospitality which has indulged me with the privilege of being a listener at this happy greeting of town and country. (Cries of "Go on! go on,")
No gentlemen. (Cries of "Go on! go on!") Gentlemen of the rural districts, please to be in order. Excuse me Mr Lientenant Governor and Mr Sneaker. for thus usurping your authority. I give you, gentle-men, the City of New York and the State of New York harmoney and affection between them and indissoluble Union between them and all the sister States."

Mr. Seward was followed by another Abolitionist, Hon. Henry Stanton, who, among other things, said: "There is too much of human progress, human hope, and human well-being, involved in the existence of the Union, to allow it to be dissolved! I will tell you, Sir, what will make our institutions as enduring as time. It is because, that, while the people will religiously observe and perform, in their letter and spirit, all Constitutional obligations, and will maintain the absolute supremacy of the laws, they will also exercise the freedom of speech and the press, the right of assembling and petitioning, and will resist every enplause.] Dissolve this Union! Why, sir, the men yet live among us, who have seen a few feeble colonies scatterd along the Atlantic coast, inhabited by less than three millions of people, expand into a confederacy of thirty one independent States, stretching its territo-ry from the granite shores of New England to the ry from the granite shores of New England to the golden strand of California, and from the pine forests of the Lakes to the orange groves of the Rio Grande, teeming with twenty-four millions of intelligent and prosperous freemen, and becoming richer in all the elements of true greatness than any nation under heaven. And, sir, the grandsons of these aged men will live to see this same confederacy grow under our glorious Constitution, till its population outruns the march of enumeration; till its territory, washed by two oceans, reaches from the arctic snows of Labrador to the tronic heats of Panama, and till the sun, as he tra-

So it seems that the breach between President Fillore and Senator Seward has been healed. The Pres-Fish, Mr. Seward's ally and bosom friend; and Mr. Seward, in turn, responds to a toast on behalf of the resident, and speaks of him in the highest terms. Seward too, it seems, is a Union man? What will the members of that "defunct humbug"- the Union partysay to that? Seward says he is one of the best friends the Union ever had—that what is "wise and just" may be defended and maintained in the Union and by

The Senate Committee are still pushing their investigation in the conduct of the State and city officers in relation to Sims, quite closely. Several leading abolitionists have been in the Senate, and testified that Tukey's Police arrested directly on the detention of Sims.

Not VERY CONSISTENT, -One of our Democratic contemporaries, which has gone into the "Constitu-tional Union" organization, thinks that Mr. Bucha-nan or Gen. Cass should be supported for the Presidency at the next election. We wonder that the paper in question forgot to inquire the position of these gentlemen in reference to the so-called "Union party." Gen. Cass (says the St. Louis Times) posi-

[Cheers."]

Mr. Seward then spoke at some length of the identity of feeling and interest between New York City and and New York State, and concluded as follows:

Savannah Georgian. INGENIOUS TOOTH PULLER .- Dr. J. C. Burch, of Evansville, Indiana, has invented one of the most in-genious and effective instruments for pulling teeth stumps that we have ever seen, and we believe that it is the best for the purpose in use. The cause which brought into energy the faculty to make this thing further on the subject of the Union. I am a believer in the Christian Religion. When it happens in my way to a fall in with a sceptic, I endeavor to remove his doubts, and I perserve confidingly; but when he avows himself an Atheist, I think that he is to be turned over to my friend Dr. Benedict, of the Insane Hospital at Utica. So if I should hear a New York man avow himself a disunionist, I should think the Bloomingdale Asylum the fittest place for his corrections the fittest place for his corrections and very serious ones too, something to meet the case, and very serious ones too, something to meet the case, and very serious ones too, something to meet the case, and very serious ones too, something to meet the case, and very serious ones too, something to meet the case, and very serious ones.

The new instrument has a neat small pad, formhook bill form, like the old kind, and has a lateral spring, so that when the two handles are brought together like those of a pair of pincers, the joint spo ken of throws the hook jaw into and grasps the tooth at once while the cushion is made to rest on the jaw, and gives a firm fulcrum for action. The operator jerks the decayed rascal tooth from its seat with the utmost ease. The Doctor has found the instrument to operate beyond his expectations. It is no trouble either to patients or the operator-we mean the drawing of bad teeth .-- Scientific American.

and subscriptions for the Journal, in New York, Philadelphia. New Party. MESSES. EDITORS-Being aware that they have accomplished nearly all the mischief they can under the name of Whig, the Federalists are hunting up a new name. In the time of Mr. JEFFERSON, they concluded to start a new party, for which purpose they called a meeting; and JOHN RANDOLPH, being desirous of ascertaining what they were driving at, attended the meeting, and he said, when he went in. behold, who should be in the chair but AARON BURR! Yes, and if he had been in this country at the time, I doubt not but the next highest officer of the meeting would have been BENEDICT ARNOLD! A new party, to be composed of the good and patriotic of all parties! How captivating! Yes, Messrs. Editors, being aware that they have succeeded in electing their President for the last time under the name of Whig-the fraudulent manner in which they elected Gen. TAYLOR having been so satisfactorily explained, and the circumstance being so fresh in the minds of the people-the Federalists have now concluded to assume a new name. But no matter what name they assume, they will hardly succeed next time by satisfying the South that their candidate must be sound on the slavery question, because he owns three or four hundred negroes-whilst the North is assured he will favor the Free-Soilers, his negroes to the contrary notwithstanding; and by assuring all the no-party men that he is a no-party candidate, when he is known to them to be a strong Federalist. To secure their votes for Gen'l TAYLOR, there was DANIEL WEBSTER, during the last campaign, flattering and encouraging the Abolitionists in their opposition to the extension of slavery, whilst Gen. Cass was contending that the extension of slavery would not augment the number, because they would increase no faster in California than they would in the Southern States, and, of course, be better provided for, because less circumscribed. Yet notwithstanding he (Webster) was thus encouraging the Abolitionists in 1848, in 1850 here were Southern men applauding him for allowing negroes to be property, and voting to carry out a compromise of the constitution which he had sworn to support !-Now, for my part, it never was in my nature yet to thank a man for repairing a wrong which he had wantonly perpetrated. Yes, Daniel Webster objected to the nomination of Gen: Taylor at first : he lived too far South and had too many negroes-he was afraid he would not succeed; but when he found out the General would, for the sake of being President, agree to favor the Free-Soilers, negroes or no negroes, why he was then a very proper selection - especially after it was ascertained' that Van Buren would ray as the Free-Soil candidate, to catch all the Northern Democrats, who were tinctured with Abolitionism, off from Gen. Cass, and to prevent the South from suspecting any sympathy between Gen. Taylor and the Free-Soilers. What a pity it is that such a mighty genius challenge and command both admiration and respect; but even the sun has black spots in him. The people, though, have been imposed upon often enough by Daniel's no-party candidates. A majority of the people in no State South of Mason & Dixon's line, and, perhaps, in several States North of it, will hardly ever vote for another candidate for the Presidency without knowing for whom they are voting, nor without his being known to be opposed to a national bank, a protective tariff, internal improvements by the general government, a distribution of the public land money, and all other measures calculated to enslave and impoverish the South for the promotion and aggrandisement of a few Northern monopolists. He will also have to be perfeetly sound on the slavery question. Now, the Whig leaders at the South tell the people that the Republican party at the North is as much to blame for giving importance to the Abolitionists as the Whig party is, when they know it is not the case, for Gen. Cass, the standard bearer of the Republican party, and his friends, came out openly during the last canvass and assured the Abolitionists that if he was elected they had nothing to hope from himthat he was not opposed to the extension of slavery whilst Gen. Taylor played mum, and his Northern Whig friends persuaded the Abolitionists that his election would be calculated to favor their views, consequently the Northern Democratic Abolitionists all voted against Gen. Cass for Van Buren, whilst the Northern Whig Abolitionists voted against Van Buren for Gen. Taylor; when if the Whig Abolitionists had not voted for Gen. Taylor, or if the Demoeratic Abolitionists had voted for Gen. Cass, in either case Cass would have beaten Taylor all to shatters. No man, acquainted with the history of that camno principles! And he run, too, by the monopolists, aristocrats, monarchists, and higher-law men of the land, who call upon the farmers to vote for himfor what? Why, because he killed a few Mexicans in what they, his supporters, term an unboly war! didate, it will then begin to be time for the enemies ing it into use. of our free institutions to number the days of this renine-tenths of the American people are Republicans in principle. But from present indications, one would suppose there is not much danger of the Federal party's ever succeeding again-for the submission of the Southern Whigs to Northern encroachment has caused almost every State South of Mason & Dixon's line to throw off the yoke of Whigery; whilst the unboly alliance between the Northern Whigs and the Abolitionists, for the sake of the former's getting into power, certainly must disgust all good citizens at the North with the party. Now if, as the 'ederalists pretend, their object in getting up this new party is to save the Union, why just let them and the Union will be preserved. Yes, sirs, let them constitution, according to the strict letter thereof, making a visit to Fayal.

disastrous effects to all portions of the country which would arise from a dissolution thereof, to ever think of disunion for elight and transient causes; but to remain in the Union with the constitution and laws set at naught, and be plundered, and taxed, and insulted, as they have been heretofore, is more than they will ever submit to again. But if the Federalists will not consent to see the affairs of this government administered upon Republican principles, and believe they have accomplished all the mischief they can under the several names of Federalists, National Republicans, and Whigs, and are resolved to assume a new name and endeavor to carry out their principles, I would suggest to them the name of "Tory" as being the most appropriate. Yes, sirs, let them assume this name and erect their platform accordingly, and it will soon be crowded with all the name of My new cook, unfortunately, had been out of sight ingly, and it will soon be crowded with all the national bank, protective tariff, internal improvement, distribution, and higher-law men, together with the Abolitionists; and the Democratic State's Rights Republicans, both North and South, will endeavor to carry out the compromises of the constitution, and prevent the passage of all laws calculated to oppress any one section of the country for the advantage of another. Is it not astonishing, indeed, that the Northern Republican party should have always had more regard for the interest of the South than the Southern Whig party have had? This is the case, till a perate." for the former, the Northern Republican party, have fought manfully all the time against protectionagainst taxing the South for the benefit of a few Northern monopolists -- whilst the latter, the Southrn Whig party, have played into their handsockets, I mean. When that has been appropriated for public works! When that has been appropriated for public works! When that has been appropriated the name of Whig, and the name of Whig, lar, captivating name of Whig-whilst hundreds and when he does so. He had some on this occasion. thousands of others deserted the Republican party because Gen. Jackson undertook to dictate to the four o'clock, "I want you to hurry and get tea ready party the rascal Martin Van Buren as his successor. I think I know men in high places who were driven out of the Republican party by their hatred to this man. Yes, I am acquainted with a great many very better than we usually get. Be sure to cook them good men who are, in principle, as good Republicans as any in the United States, yet they vote the Whig ticket. Why? Because through their veneration for the name of Whig, and their batred for Martin Van Buren, they got thrown off the track in 1836, and have voted with the Federalists ever since. But it seems to me if a man does lose his way, and camps out with the enemy a while, he should set himself right when he finds out the object of their pursuit. The fact is, for the very reason that man is fallible, he should always hold himself open to conviction, and whenever he discovers he is in error persist in it no longer, but admit the fact and pursue a different course. What an unfortunate move for the Republican party that was in Gen. Jackson! It split I did not happen to have sufficient presence of mind the party all to shatters. And what a curse Van to recall my invitation to the ladies to walk in to tea, Buren, to say nothing about Benton, has been to the party. But the Abolition excitement will drive all good Republicans, both North and Scuth, back where and the Free-Soilers. What a pity it is that such a man as Dan'l Webster is not a Republican; and that his exertions are used to build up a privileged class—a monied aristocracy—to rule the hundred millions who are destined, at no distant day, to inhabit lions who are destined, at no distant day, to inhabit these United States. His gigantic intellect and his occasion by the Southern Whigs, the matter would was in the act of filling my own cup from the urn, have been settled long before it was-if, in fact, it is settled at all-and much more to the satisfaction and credit of the South. Yes, the Northern Whigs flattered the Abolitionists in 1848 for the purpose of getting into power, to enable them to fasten their abominable measures upon the country again, and then deceived them in 1850! No wonder they are hunting up a new name under which to carry out their designs, for the name of Whig has become almost as unpopular, especially in the Southern States. as was the name of "Tory" about the close of the revolution, when the friends of liberty had achieved they're there. I boild 'em well." our independence: Yes, almost every State South of Mason & Dixon's, and several North of that line, has thrown the party overboard. And South Carolina. for her part, has turned out the last of her members of Congress who was at all tinctured with Whiggery. She says she made a "cursed hard bargain" by entering into the federal compact. I think as much : and if ever the counsels of consolidating, Federal Whiggery prevail again in our National Assembly. I hope she will declare the bargain null and void.

The Last Dog Story.

The advantages of advertising are admirably il lustrated in the following incident, which we find recorded in the last Sandusky Democrat :

Mr. Luke Horton, of South Eight street, keeps a dog called La Vega, an ill favored fierce-eyed brute, whose untidy habits and cross-grained temper cause him to be held in detestation by the family in general, and by Mrs. Horton, his mistress, in particular, La Vega, however, is a great favorite with his mas-

About a week ago Mrs. Horton became exaspera ted on account of some unendurable offence co

"Heavens!" ejaculated Mrs. Horton; what did you have to pay for him?" Only eleven dollara," replied Horton, "one for the advertisement, and ten to old Abe for bringing him back." "Merciful geodness!" replied the unsympathizing wife. "Eleven dollars (enough to buy a silk dress) for the recovery of such a nasty cur! and to think that I gave the black rascal a dollar for taking him off."

Here Brother Noel groaned piously, and asked—"What then, Brother Crump?"

"And"—replied Crump—"I've prayed that prayer three times, and he hain't done it! So I'm clear of the 'sponsibility, any way."

"The Lord's will be done!" ejaculated Noel, and after taking another dram he went home, thinking all the way, how eleverly Brother Crump had shifted the responsibility!

Eloquent Description.

In Meagher's Memoir of '48 is an article on the "familiarity of famine in Ireland." It depicts, in burning and truthful language, the often-hungered condition of the abject creatures, to whom Providence willed an existence in one of the most prolific isles of the world; but, at the same time, one of the most wretchedly destitute on that world's broad sur-face. Though vivid and forcibly drawn, there is no exaggeration in the picture; it is, too, from a master hand, sketched with graphic fidelity, and taken to the life:

"Hunger, I had thought, would break through gates of brass and walls of granite; would rush through fire, or, like the bayed tiger in his last desperate extremity, spring upon the spears which hemmed it in!

"Nor was I altogether wrong; for the hunger, which, like the earthquake or the whirlwind, hath been sent in sudden wrath upon a people, has done these things, and done them with the fury of the fiercest elements that bend the pillars of the sky or shake the foundations of the sea.

preme. Years upon years—years upon years—it had walked the land; some few blessing it as a serene angel, sent by God to chastise and purify: the multitude cursing it as a foul fiend, yet falling down before it—acknowledging it lord and master!

"Years ago, amid the fruits and flowers of radian summer, the destroyer had stood concealed, watching the young soft hands that worked garlands for the pride, beauty, and gallant boyhood of the land
—muttering to himself, that the flowers would shortand the fruits decay, and that all that pride and beauty, and gallant boyhood would soon be his—and his for many a long day to come.

"Years ago, from the peak of the loftiest mountain in the South, at an hour when the heavens ca-

nopied the Island with their white and azure banners, and the peak glittered beneath them like a crown of virgin gold, the phantom had looked down upon the life, and sweetness, and glory at his feet oasting like the devil of the wilderness, that al was his, and delivered unto him!

"Years ago, in the golden fields of a most joyou harvest-time, he had stood among the reapers; smi ompanied the fall was at length revoked, and that the children of Adam should no longer eat bread by the swent of their brows, as it had been promised.

"Everywhere, for years and years; in the valley; on the mountain; amid the violets and the roses of many a radiant summer; in the golden fields of many a joyous harvest-time; on the hearth-stone, by the side of the wrinkled and the silver-haired, mumbling to her words of abject resignation, and point ing to the grave, so that it were not wet with blood destiny of the land, and Heaven's will be done!

Shifting the Responsibility.

While attending court, recently, in the adjoining county of Randolph, a friend who is fond of jokes of all sorts, and who relates them almost as humorously as "His Honor," gave us the following. vouching for the substantial, sub-lunar existence of the parties, and their present residence "in the county aforesaid ." Brethren Crump and Noel were both members of the Primitive Baptist Church, and both clever, hor est men, who paid their taxes and debts as the sam annually accrued, with a regularity at once Christain and commendable. If, when setting day came round, Brother Noel was "short," Brother was sure to be in funds; and on the other hand almost seemed providential how, if Brother Crump fell "behind," Brother Noel always had a surplus Thus borrowing from and lending to each other worshipping at the same church, and living only mile apart, an intimacy gradually ripened between them; so that at last they did not hesitate to speak in the freest and most familiar manner to each other, even in regard to their respective foibles.

Now, it came to pass, that Brother Crump, during the liveliest period of the cotton season, drove into Wetumpka and disposed of his "crap" of ten bales. at the very fair price of 121 cents per pound. It was more than he expected, and as the world was easy with him, he determined to invest, and actually did invest a portion of the proceeds of the sale of his cotton, in a barrel of western whiskey; paying therefor, at the rate of, precisely, two pounds of dling cotton for one gallon of "ditto" whiskey.

Of course it was "norated in the settlement" that ted on account of some unendurable offence committed by La Vega, and privately bargained with an old collector of soap-fat, named Abe Walker, who, for a dollar fee, agreed to take the dog off and "render him up" into tallow, or otherwise relieve Mrs. Horton from the annoyance of his presence.

Mr. Horton, on coming home to dinner, inquired for La Vega, and was chagrined with the information that his troublesome pet had absconded. For some days the absence of La Vega gave occasion for the second days the absence of La Vega gave occasion for the second days the absence of La Vega gave occasion for the second days the absence of La Vega gave occasion for the second days the absence of La Vega gave occasion for the second days the absence of La Vega gave occasion for the second days the absence of La Vega gave occasion for the second days the absence of the second days the second days the absence of the second days the second days the absence of the second days the second days the absence of the second days the second days the absence of the second days the second days the absence of the second days the second days the second days the second days the absence of the second days the second days

Brother Noel was "sore troubled" at the scandal which circulated about his brother and friend, and especially regretted the injury it brought to the "ciety" at Sharoon. So one morning, he stepped over to Brother Crumps and found the old man in a boots, he stopped short, and after another closer examination, said with equal twang and emphasis—"I say, yeou, yeou ain't a-goin' to leave this world in a hurry; you've got too good a holt on to the ground. Want a bootjack, eh? Why, bless your soul, there ain't a bootjack on airth big enough for them boots! I don't believe that a horse can get 'em off?" "My stars! man!" cried our friend of the big feet, "what'll I do? I can't get my boots off without a jack!"—"I tell you what I should do," replied "Boots," if they were mine, I should walk back to the fork of the road, and pull em off there. That will fetch 'em. I guess!"

The Senate of the State of Pennsylvania has passed a bill to repeal the section of the law of 1847 which forbids the jails of that Commonwealth to be used for the safe-keeping of alleged fugitives. The vote was 17 ayes to 8 noes. The "Pennsylvanian"

"There is no doubt of the House concurring in this action of the Senate. We hope our friends in that body will give the subject their earliest attention. Pennsylvania could not allow this nullifying law to remain on the statute books without feeling that she was a consenting party to the infliction of a fatal wound upon the National Constitution."

The Faculties, for intellectual abilities, moral worth and presonal acquirements, will compare favorably with the most distinguished in our country. The medical faculty constitutes an anomaly in this or any other country—all of them are able lecturers and the best of teachers.

Those who will contemplate our geographical position, and the extent of our population, can have no doubt as to the eligibility of our situation for an enterprise of the kind. As to health, including all seasons of the year, we deny that any health, including all seasons of the year, we deny that ANY OTHER CITY HAS MORE.

A common error exists in the minds of many students relative to the place of studying medicine; those who intend practising among the diseases of the West and South should certainly educate themselves at a School whose Faculty are practically acquainted with those diseases.

That the public may be satisfied of the permanency of this school, we feel it our duty to state, that the Trustees and Faculty form a UNIT in action, which augurs well for its future success; and that the peculiar internal organization which connects them, cannot be interrupted.
